

Parts of a Computer

A computer is a machine formed by several parts.

The Speakers

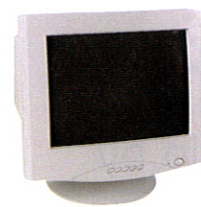

You can listen to music or hear sounds through the speakers.

The Printer

When you click on the Print button, the computer sends the letters and the drawings from the screen to the printer.

The printer writes and draws the data sent by the computer on sheets of paper.

The Monitor

You can watch what you are doing on the monitor.

Central Processing Unit or Case

It is a box that contains the drives and the electronic circuits of the computer.

The On Button

The button to turn on the computer, located on the case.

The Mouse

You can tell the computer what you want to do by using the mouse.

The Keyboard

It is used to write and to give instructions to the computer. Use the keyboard to write stories, letters or e-mail messages.

